

FORM B – EMERGING LEADER SERIES APPLICATION

Students can only attend ICDC in one of two capacities: 1. As a competitor 2. As a participant in the Emerging Leader Series. Chapters must submit applications for any students who would like to be considered as a participant in the Emerging Leader Series. Spaces are limited and only those students for whom applications have been submitted will be considered.

Please note, this form is not required if your chapter has guaranteed leadership slots as a Gold Level Chapter Awards Program Chapter (up to 2 slots) or if your chapter earned THRIVE Academy slots through the DECA Inc chapter campaigns (up to 2 slots per Thrive level). If either scenario applies to you, those names should be indicated on Form A.

If a student is outside of the automatic qualifying spots in competition and really wants to attend ICDC but is not sure if they will bump up in competition you need to complete and submit an Emerging Leader Series Application for that student. If they bump up in competition the assumption is that they prefer competition over the Emerging Leader Series, and we will automatically place them in competition. If they do not bump up in competition their application will be considered, and allocation spots will be selected and filled based on the overall impression of the application. As a reminder, Emerging Leader Series slots are limited.

California DECA finds a candid evaluation helpful in choosing from among a highly qualified pool of applicants for the limited Emerging Leader Series allocations that are available at ICDC. We will work to ensure equal representation among all chapters. Be prepared to provide a brief statement in support of each applicant (no more than 300 words). This will be submitted in the online form via the link below.
