"Please sign me up for the upcoming DECA conference. I had the opportunity to represent the grocery (retail) industry several years ago. I was, to say the least, very impressed with the program and the professional job that DECA does preparing its participants for the retail and marketing fields..."

Online Judging at your own pace

Please note that should you select a specific event to judge, the judge coordinator will make every effort to place you in that event, however, due to event sizes and judge needs we cannot guarantee specific event placement. Arriving for check in on time helps ensure preferred placement.

WHAT WILL YOU BE JUDGING?

DECA has nearly 60 competitive events, from prepared business plans and market research events to on-the-spot role plays and case studies. Below is a brief overview of the various competitive events offered at the California DECA Career Development Conferences that our judges will assist with:

SERIES EVENTS

Principles of Business Administration Events, Individual Series Events and Team Decision Making Events consist of two major parts: a written comprehensive exam and role-playing situations. The number and type of role play depends on the event. Students participating in Principles of Business Administration Events compete individually in one 10-minute Role Play. Students participating in Individual Series Events compete individually in two 10-minute role play situations. Students Competing in Team Decision Making Events compete as a team in one 15-minute case study situation. Principles of Business Administration Events and Individual Series Events are individual events, while Team Management Decision Making Events have a team of 2 participants.

PREPARED EVENTS

Prepared events cover a wide variety of business topics and require students to develop their entry in advance of the conference. Depending on the event, students may prepare a written entry of up to 20 pages or develop a pitch deck. At the conference, students present their work to a judge, with presentation times varying by event. Prepared events may consist of one to three students and include entrepreneurship and business plan events, marketing research, professional selling and consulting events, and chapter projects.
